Heart Junction, South Dakota, 1912 Laura will do anything to keep her little girl. Gavin will do whatever he must to take the child away. Shortly after Laura Windsor happily meets little Angelina, the orphan she intends to take into her home, she learns she may have a difficult time keeping the child. Gavin Maitland hates shattering lovely Lauras dreams of motherhood, but he has no choice. He is bound to follow the rules of the town council regarding the placement of orphan train children: orphans may be placed with married couples only. If Laura doesnt marry soon, Gavin tells her, little Angelina, whos been given to her temporarily, will be taken away. Laura is undaunted by the handsome mans threats. There is more than one way for a woman to have the family she wants, and, by thunder, she intends to prove it. Golden Rose Award, Recommended Read Award Excerpt Laura hunched down next to Angelina.
