These are observed on the 7th day of the first month, the 3d day of the third month, the 5th day of the fifth month, the 7th day of the seventh month, and the 9th day of the ninth month. It will be seen that they occur with a numerical regularity which is striking. The Japanese seem to have a peculiar pleasure in such arrangements. The first of these festivals refers more especially to the domestic arts, and is largely a combination of stewing, brewing, and divination, called the chopping of the seven herbs. The women are mostly concerned in its performance, which lasts through the earlier hours of the day. The second is a child s festival, during which dolls representing every trade, craft, and calling, civil and military, historical and legendary, are made. Each feature of these dummies is shown with an exacting fidelity to the original. The setting forth in display of these figures, often numbering a thousand, is both interesting and educating to its participants. This month, March, with its toys and opening blossoms of spring, is primarily the month for the girls, and the little Japanese maids queen it right royally both at home and among their friends. The festival of the 5th day of the fifth month is especially a boy s fete. This is given in honour of the birth of a male child within the past twelve months. The happy event is...
